This week we are happy to bring you a team video profile featuring interviews with Robert Böhme and Sebastian Rattay of the team Part Time Scientists. This team has been quite industrious in the past few months, in both the physical and virtual worlds. Among other activities, the team unveiled the prototype of their lunar lander last week and they recently broke 10,000 fans on facebook!

The team has been hinting at a big announcement on Friday, so definitely stay tuned for that by following the team on their GLXP website, Twitter, or Facebook. And in the meantime, enjoy the video!
